

Dos & Don'ts for Students

DO

Ahead of time:

Think of a recipe inspired by a book you've read.
Select a recipe that you can demonstrate easily & safely.

Plan to record your video in a kitchen.

Check with an adult before cooking.

Remember your time limit is 10 minutes.

Practice with a timer before recording.

Get all the ingredients out & have them handy.

While recording your video:

Introduce yourself & the dish you will be making.

Say the book's & author's name.

Hold up the book & show the cover.

Talk about the book.

Pause the video when you need to, such as while mixing ingredients or while food is cooking. Remember, you only have 10 minutes!

End your video by tasting your dish & showing the book cover again.

DON'T

Choose a recipe that's too hard or complicated for you to make with minimal help.

Skip the preparation! The more you plan out your video & practice, the better it will be!

Forget to hold up the book so your readers can see it.

Forget to say what you liked about the book & who else might enjoy it.

Forget to cook or bake only with an adult's permission.
